WEATHER BULLETIN.
WASHINGTON, June 22.—For lower Michigan—Wednesday generally fair, westerly winds; cooler in northern portion.

GROVER CLEVELAND.
Unless the unexpected shall happen, Grover Cleveland will be the next democratic candidate for the presidency—and for defeat. His canvass for renomination has been conducted with the utmost skill, and today he has marshaled in Chicago an army of enthusiastic supporters, the like of which never before gathered at a national meeting of the democratic party. His forces present an impregnable front and are held in perfect alignment by such astute political generals as Vilas, Jayard, Fairchild and Dickinson, all of whom are inspired with gratitude to their chief for honors conferred and with anticipation of honors yet to come. With such an organization, the very foundations of which are cemented in the hopes of personal aggrandizement, the disorganized cabal under the uncertain leadership of distrustful political schemers can make little headway. Its attempts to prejudice and inflame the public mind by virulent anti-democratic attacks against the chief figure before the convention fail to the ground. His position is invincibly ramified and neither log nor ranting can move it one jot or tittle. He is the embodiment of democratic tradition and the most illustrious type of its free trade advocates. His administration was too conservative to test his Americanism and he passed out of office without having distinguished or disgraced himself. He gave a clean execution to his duties and retired as he went in, a man without distinct and distinguishing traits of character. He is despised by the practical politicians and perhaps this is the strongest reason why he should be nominated.

WILL VOTE AS UNITS.
Unless the customs of the party shall be set aside every state instructed to cast its vote as a unit for Grover Cleveland will do so in the Chicago convention today. The rule has stood inviolate for years, although several determined attempts have been made to break it and in each instance Tammany has been the aggressor. It is an unwritten law of the party and has been honored and obeyed as such with remarkable fidelity. In 1876 the opposition to Tilden consolidated and moved in national convention to break the unit rule, but that body declared in favor of the rule holding that the state had the right to adopt its own policy. John Kelly at the head of his braves again assaulted the rule in 1884, and made a vigorous and determined onslaught upon it, but the convention on an overwhelming vote repulsed the attack, and it was vindicated as the usage of the state and must be obeyed. The rule will not be relaxed in the present convention, for it is regarded as the bulwark of democratic success. The reports that individual delegates from instructed states will bolt Cleveland are purely imaginary. The states so instructed will vote as a unit so long as they vote. Under this rule Pennsylvania will vote solidly for Cleveland notwithstanding the report that six of the delegates are for Hill. It is the voice of the state and not of individuals that counts at democratic conventions.

ARTESIAN WELLS.
Bulletin No. 133 has been issued. It is the ninth of the series devoted to irrigation in the arid and subarid states and territories. It relates to artesian wells on farms especially as used for irrigation. The total number of artesian wells on farms in June, 1890, in the states and territories forming the western half of the United States, was 8,097, representing an estimated aggregate investment of $1,388,461.28. Complete statistics concerning the depth, cost, discharge, and other features of 2,371 of such wells, fairly distributed through the various states and territories from which they are reported, have been obtained from the owners, and from the averages derived from such statistics the number of artesian wells used for the purpose of irrigation is computed at 3,930, the average depth per well 210.41 feet, the average cost per well $245.58, the total discharge of water per minute 440,719.71 gallons, or 54.43 gallons per well per minute, the average acre irrigated per well 13.21 acres, and the average cost of water per acre irrigated $18.55. Over one-half of these wells are in the state of California, where 38,725 acres of agricultural land were irrigated by artesian water. Utah stands second in the number of artesian wells used for irrigation purposes and Colorado in the area of land thus irrigated, followed, at a long distance, by Texas and other states, as set forth in the bulletin.

WHAT ARE THEY?
John T. Rich has more elements of strength as a gubernatorial candidate than any other man mentioned for the place. It is for this reason that he will, without much doubt, be nominated by the republican state convention. The above clipping is from the Eagle. It is a plain declaration of an alleged fact, without enlargement or explanation. It has been said before and reiterated time and again, but nobody has yet assigned reasons why it is true. If Mr. Rich has more elements of strength than anybody else, what are they? Wherein is he stronger and better than any other man? It is impossible that any reply will be made to these questions, hence THE HERALD will undertake to answer them. In the first place, Mr. Rich has served acceptably in several places of public trust. For nearly twenty years he has been before the people for one office and another, and if age in politics gives strength, like age in cheese, Mr. Rich is very strong. He is more or less intimately identified with the aspirations of Senator McMillan. Senator McMillan is not popular because of his railway monopoly predilections. Mr. Rich will suffer by this intimacy because he was railway commissioner, and the demagogue will not be slow to asperse the probity of his administration. Is there any other reason why John T. Rich "has more elements of strength than any other man"? Is he a veteran, a farmer, a manufacturer, a friend to labor—anything more than a politician and office seeker? If he is, why do not the McMillan organs tell us so? Why do they impudently and arrogantly declare that he shall be nominated only because McMillan decrees it? THE HERALD will be glad to publish the reasons why he "has more elements of strength" when they shall be made known. Merely to say he has them will not satisfy the people.

GOVERNOR McKINLEY was equal to the occasion in notifying the president of his nomination and he paid the distinguished statesman an appropriate compliment in delicately conceived words. The president was equally happy in responding. The proceeding, however, was so purely superfluous as to suggest to the mind of the average man that it reflects upon the sincerity and candor of our people. President Harrison already knew of his nomination and the mere act of telling him so in a formal speech in the presence of a formal committee is carrying "form" to the verge of ancient incoherency.

FAILURE invariably rewards the attempts of the politicians to throttle or distort public sentiment. The McMillan machine, maddened because Pingree is the popular favorite, has practically abandoned the Rich boom to start one for a dark horse. Seeing defeat in front of it, resort is made to the subterfuge of the resentful and chagrined politician—a boom for a dark horse. This is a bad year for dark horses and boomers. "You can fool some of the people all the time, and all the people some of the time," but you can't fool the people this year any of the time.

In some parts of the city the streets are in a filthy and dangerous condition by reason of the accumulation of stagnant water in depressions which is allowed to remain until it becomes offensive to both nose and eyes. The recent heavy rains are answerable for this, and it is probable a remedy will be applied so soon as the street commissioners can get around to these places.

FROM the great business interests of the country, from the manufacturing interests and from the labor ranks protected by the tariff laws, there will come an honest, earnest and efficient support of Benjamin Harrison. The friends of honest money will concede that he is the best representative of that cause, and their solid help will be given to secure his election.

ALDERMAN TEACOUT proposes a plan for a small park that will meet with favor so soon as its merits are discussed and appreciated. The view from the hydraulic standpipes is a comprehensive and inspiring one and affords the best opportunity to be had to take in the city at a glance.

FROM all points in the lake regions come protests against Colonel Ludlow's removal. He has a large circle of friends among marine men, and many telegrams have been sent to Secretary Foster, asking that final action be postponed until an investigation can be had.

THE annual destruction of European grain crops has begun—on paper. It is essential, in the estimation of stock gamblers, that Europe should have another poor crop and the United States another grand one in order that speculation may accomplish what it undertook to accomplish a year ago.

EX-MAYOR UHL appears to have reached up and taken off all the perils in sight in the Chicago convention so far as Michigan is concerned. Dan, Don and Ike are like lights hid under a bushel basket in the presence of so many great men.

WITH a city full of democrats the Chicago base ball club is unable to add interest enough to its games with Cincinnati to win one. Captain Anson always gets in his hardest licks when there is no excitement.

THERE are marked opportunities for improvement in the drainage system of many Grand Rapids streets. It is a matter that is vitally connected with the public health, and demands immediate attention.

THE New York Herald says, "Never could your delegates before they are cashed." Evidently some of those at the Chicago convention are ready to be counted.

THE long series of republican victories gained at the polls for more than a generation will have a new one added this year.

HAVE TO BE STRONG

Cells Now Have to Be Fitted With Steel Cages

TO PROTECT THE PRISONERS

This Is Especially True in the South. How the Northern Spirit Is Affecting Southerners.

W. F. Parsons of Pittsburg was a guest at the New Livingston yesterday. Mr. Parsons is agent for the Barnes Safe & Lock company and has just returned from the south. "We are doing a large business in jail locks and cell fixtures," he said yesterday. "There has been a great change in prison appointments during the past ten or twelve years. Not long ago it was thought that if a man were placed in a cell and half-inch iron bars put between him and liberty, that was sufficient. The possibility of his escaping or breaking through this frame work never occurred to anybody. But the old cell has been done away with now and a steel cage substituted.

This has been rendered necessary for the protection of the public and also the protection of the prisoner. When a man commits some crime that particularly incenses the public it takes a mighty strong structure these days to prevent a mob's taking him out and lynching him. This is particularly true in the south, although matters are not so bad there as they have been. The south has made some wonderful developments during the past few years. The new south is a grand thing. These new cities of Chattanooga, Birmingham and Atlanta have a real northern enterprise. They have all the vim and determination of a western town. Of course the enterprising cities are in the minority, but I can see that the rest of the south is progressing rapidly. The small towns in the south are very backward. A town with 1,800 or 2,000 inhabitants there is absolutely without a particle of business push. Everything is stagnant and the place is just as it was before the war. In many places the same men are doing business there. The county seat still consists of a court house and possibly one little store. When court is in session everybody looks there as they would to a circus. The old-timers come with their horses and mules and "swap." They look forward to court week as the time to drive some really interesting bargains, and they drive them too. The southern man may be a little backward about some things, but when it comes to a mule trade he is pretty close to the head of the procession.

"Business is very quiet throughout the south this year. The season has been so wet that everything is backward. Cotton was a good crop, but it is difficult to tell how other things will develop."

J. M. Turner Talks.
The Hon. James M. Turner of Lansing, was a guest at the Morton yesterday. He was accompanied by C. J. Davis. "We are here conferring with General Manager Head of the D. L. & N.," said Mr. Turner. "We want a fair railroad privilege, and so came up after him. Politics? Yes, lots of 'em. Lansing was swarming with politics when I left. The capital was surrounded with democrats yelling for Cleveland. They were all hot under the collar when anybody else was mentioned. You can't discount the enthusiasm of a Lansing democrat. I believe Jim O'Donnell has been mentioned for governor. That makes a very pretty three-cornered fight, and they are all good men."

Pennsylvania Officials.
A party consisting of James McCrae, J. T. Broome, J. E. Davidson, H. C. Oliphant of Pittsburg and P. S. O'Rourke of Fort Wayne arrived at the Morton last night. Mr. McCrae is first vice president of the Pennsylvania company. Mr. Brooks, second vice president, and Mr. Davidson, third vice president, and Mr. Oliphant official stenographer. Mr. O'Rourke is superintendent of the southern division of the G. R. & I.

"There is no special significance to our trip," said Mr. Davidson last night. "We are merely looking over the road. We have inspected the southern division and find it in excellent condition."

Gossip of the Hotels.
H. C. Littlefield and wife of Albany are at the Morton. Mr. Littlefield is president of the stove company that contemplates locating here, and is in the city to confer with Secretary Kinsey in regard to the matter.

Mrs. J. H. Welsh, Mrs. George Morris, Mrs. D. W. Miller and Master Fred Morris formed a party of four people that dined at the New Livingston yesterday.

E. B. Dana, editor of the Muskegon Daily Chronicle, tarried with a Morton house breakfast yesterday morning.

G. A. Minchener of Detroit, general agent for the Dun Mercantile Agency, arrived at the Morton yesterday.

Mrs. R. A. Chandler of St. Paul and Miss Kate Holand of Hastings were guests at the Morton yesterday.

H. Brimble of Columbus, O., superintendent of the Adams Express company, is at the Morton.

H. S. Hull, president of the Maconella handle factory, is at the New Livingston.

F. W. Stevenson, an Iowa merchant, dined at the New Livingston yesterday.

H. J. Lake, a Lilley hotel man, was registered at Sweet's yesterday.

Dr. Frank Merritt of Charlotte was at the Morton last evening.

DR. BAUM'S LECTURE.

He Delivers a Brilliant Discourse on the Reformation.
The Rev. Dr. Baum delivered the last of his series of lectures on biblical history at the Ladies' Literary club house last evening, the subject being the "Reformation." For the first time since his stay here the lights were in working order and the stereopticon views were unusually brilliant. Dr. Baum handled his subject "The Reformation," in a masterly manner. His style is graceful and his presentation of historical truth is picturesque in the extreme. He combines the wonderful appreciation of the salient points of a subject which characterizes Macaulay, together with the vividness of Fronde. He passes over the insignificant point in history, but brings out with marked originality and clearness the incidents which, though seemingly of little moment were really the primary causes which gave rise to the great moral upheaval known as the Reformation. He describes with equal perspicuity the romantic and brilliant career of the Norman conquest and the more obscure political and ecclesiastical conflicts that resulted in the decline of the papal power and the foundation of constitutional liberty. He paid a generous tribute to Luther, Wickliffe and the martyrs of the Reformation. After a brief resume of the reigns of Henry VII. Mary and Elizabeth Dr. Baum gave a satisfactory summing up of the great principles which were then established and which have since been the basis of our civilization. The long baptism of blood and the martyrdom of the Reformation. After a brief resume of the reigns of Henry VII. HOLLAND SYNOD.

Little Business of Importance Transacted Yesterday.
But little business of importance was transacted at the Christian Reformed synod yesterday. The morning session was taken up by the report of the committee on the former synods, which was accepted.

Several churches were given letters admitting them to the synod. Dr. Vos and Elder T. Keppel were appointed delegates to the next general assembly of the United Presbyterian church, the time and place of meeting of which is not yet known.

East Bridge Street Sewer.
The break in the main sewer at the corner of East Bridge and Kent streets, which has caused the Street Railway company to break its Bridge and Lyon street route and make transfers at that point with much inconvenience to passengers, is still open, but a reporter for THE HERALD was assured yesterday that it would be repaired and filled up before the close of the week.

Sent Back From Indiana.
An old woman in destitute circumstances secured a ticket to Indiana from Postmaster Moordyk last week, thinking that her daughter would call for her when she arrived there. The daughter had been sick all winter and was unable to care for her aged mother and she was sent back to this city by her poor authorities there.

Special Session of Supervisors.
A special session of the board of supervisors will convene this afternoon in the new court house, at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of accepting the new building, appointing janitors, preparing the city directory, etc.

New Grace Church.
The plans for the new building to be erected by the Grace Episcopal church have been changed to curtail the expense of the building. The new plans are for a building to cost $15,000, which is $10,000 less than the original.

Pay Day for the Teachers.
The hearts of the school ma'ns will be made glad today at an expense of about $15,000 to the city. A good share of the money will go to enrich the coffers of the summer hotel keeper.

Circus for the Boys.
All the newsboys and carrier boys are requested to meet this evening at 7 o'clock at the corner of Division and Monroe streets, when they will be taken to see Jim Travis' circus.

Late City Items.
Messrs D. M. Taft and White, of the Vendome, accompanied by their wives and Miss Alice Taft, left yesterday for a week's trip down the river in Mr. White's steam launch.

Miss White of Detroit, Miss Allen of Jamestown, Miss Noble of Seattle, Wash., and Miss Cummins of Toledo, are visiting Miss Louise Barnhart.

Ben Robinson, Tom Bradford and Harry Worden returned last night from the university.

The Rev. Dr. Braun and his assistant, Prof. G. M. Brown, left last night for Chicago.

L. C. Stow and family have gone to Macatawa Park for their summer residence.

P. H. Covell and family have gone to Ottawa Beach for the summer.

CITY PRESS COMMENT.
Judge Adair, in the circuit court yesterday, granted divorces to two unhappy wives, and in addition to the usual decree, made orders prohibiting the recent husbands marrying again until two years elapse. In both cases the divorces were granted on grounds of desertion, and in both it appeared that after living with their wives for a few months, or until the novelty wore off the husbands desecrated the order of the court will save other unfortunate women from sharing the fate of the two unhappy wives for at least two years.—Leader.

Henry George and Tom Johnson favor Cleveland's nomination and say it would mean free trade. As long as the country needs $400,000,000 a year for government expenditures free trade is out of the question. An issue so radical would surely be voted down.—Press.

There appears to be no sign of an agreement on the river and harbor bill. The delay in the passage of the measure might be left in this way with no detriment to public interests.—Democrat.

FOR A NEW PARK

Alderman Teachout Proposes a Plan

FOR A SIGHTLY ESPLANADE

From Which to View the City, River and Valley—Clinton Street the Site.

Alderman Teachout is receiving active encouragement from aldermen and property owners in his plan for establishing a public park around the Hydraulic company's stand pipe on Clinton street. He proposes that the city buy five lots at the head of Clinton street, which shall form the beginning of a park. The ground is rolling in character, and from it one obtains a magnificent view in which miles of farm and wooded land, factories and the city beneath are blended into a beautiful picture. Visitors are always taken to this point to get the best view of the city and valley. Aside from the small expense of grading and setting out trees, the city would not be obliged to spend any money to obtain this great acquisition to its natural beauties. Residents in the northern part of the city are anxious to have some prompt action in the matter.

Ways and Means Committee.
School children who, in good faith, visited the exhibit at the city hall yesterday were terribly frightened by the wild actions of a man whom they thought insane. A crowd was gathered around the rear window of the city attorney's office, and a man who was wildly haranguing a group of men in the alley. He leaped far out of the window and cried: "Go away, this isn't news what we are doing, please go away; wait until Monday night; all will come up to the council." It proved to be Alderman Turner, who was warning reporters away from the secret session of the committee on ways and means.

The committee met at 3:30 o'clock and was locked in the city attorney's private office until long after supper time. City Treasurer Sorrick was with the committee and it was learned that the business in hand was making up the annual budget. The committee will hold two more meetings to complete their work which will go before the council Monday evening.

City Hall Notes.
The educational exhibit at the city hall was well attended yesterday and great interests was manifested in the work. The work in penmanship of the primary grades is remarkably good. It is in no way specimen work, but it is taken from the regular daily exercises. The work of the Central avenue and Jefferson street schools received very favorable comment.

Eight hundred and sixty-five persons attended the exhibit at the city hall Monday. Yesterday the number was about 450. The exhibit closed last night.

Lawyers say that druggists may legally sell beer in bottles for medicinal purposes. The question is one that is interesting to druggists greatly of late. City Attorney Taylor spent yesterday in the country.

HELD ITS ANNUAL MEETING.
Young People's Society of Park Church Elects Officers.

The Young People's society of Park Congregational church held its annual meeting last evening in the church parlors, with a banquet and speech making. Van A. Wallin acted as toastmaster, and the following toasts were given with considerable humor and pleasantness: Caroline Elliott, "Our Study of American History"; A. G. Dickinson, "The American Girl"; Clay H. Hollister, "Our Guild"; Alvin Mooley, "Dealing in Futures"; Mrs. Clay H. Hollister, "Young America"; the Rev. Dan F. Bradley, "Looking Forward." The meeting was well attended and much interest was manifested in the welfare of the society. The past year has been a profitable one in its history and it is now full of earnestness and in a prosperous condition. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, John Martin; vice president, Miss Edith Boynton; secretary, Miss Kate Thompson; treasurer, L. N. Renwick.

STILL NO QUORUM.
Kent Fair Directors Unable to Hold a Meeting.

Directors Meech, Withey and Brewer and Secretary Cox of the Kent County Agricultural society tried to hold another meeting in Mr. Cox's office yesterday afternoon, but the same condition of things existed as on the previous occasions. Breeding was not attended and Directors Fletcher and Garfield failed to put in appearance. It is now pretty evident that the absent directors will not appear at the meetings until it is too late to hold a fair this fall, and the vote previously taken cannot be rescinded. They think a fair this year would prove a failure, and by a game of freeze out they can carry their point.

Filed a Practitioner's Statement.
Maria Whitteley Norris graduated from the Boston University School of Medicine on the first day of the present month, and yesterday she filed a medical practitioner's sworn statement with the county clerk. She will practice medicine in this city.

Going to the Resorts.
Among those who passed through the city yesterday on their way to the resorts, were Messrs Duffield, Cleland and Edwards of Detroit, Blatchford and Hackett of Chicago and Dr. Briggs and family of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Pew's Anniversary.
George Pew and wife celebrated a triple anniversary at their pleasant residence on Dunham street last evening, that being the birthday of both Mr. and Mrs. Pew and the sixth anniversary of their wedding.

AMUSEMENTS.
The closing concert of the Grand Rapids Oratorio society will be given in the Fountain Street Baptist church Friday night. The club will be assisted by the Mendelssohn quartet of Detroit. The Oratorio have been at all times progressive and tireless in the advancement of vocal music in this city and much of the interest is associated with concert programs is due to their efforts. The club owing to the season is burdened with some inconsiderable expenses which it hopes to cancel with the result of this concert. This fact should insure a large attendance. Seats are now out.

WILL BE FILLED UP

M. B. Church Has Bought the Old Island

AND WILL FILL THE CHANNEL

Steamboats Will Land at the Island and the Site Will Be Sold for Factory Purposes.

Several days ago THE HERALD stated that agents for the Miller and Judge Holmes' estates were negotiating with prominent capitalists of this city for the sale of the island. Yesterday the negotiations were completed and M. B. Church purchased the seventeen acres for $28,000. He will build docks on the west side of the island and the old steamboat channel will probably be filled up. The island will be filled and connected by railroad tracks. It will then be put on the market for factory sites. The Chicago & West Michigan railroad bridge spans the present steamboat channel with a draw. The draw will be moved from the east to the west side of the island, where the channel is deeper and wider. The tract will in a few years become one of the busiest manufacturing regions in the city. The channel has always been a menace to the health of residents for blocks around and Mr. Church's plan of filling it up is claimed to be for the best interests of business and public safety.

Press Club Meeting.
The adjourned meeting of the Press club was held last evening. Several new members were elected. J. Boyd Pantlind of the Morton house was unanimously and enthusiastically elected as an honorary member of the club, and a committee was appointed to present Mr. Pantlind with a handsome engraved certificate of membership. The question of holding a mid-summer excursion was brought up and entrusted to the entertainment committee.

Innes Kiefer's Souvenir.
The Innes Kiefer, company H. Second Michigan infantry, have issued a very handsome souvenir. It contains a brief history of the company since its organization, besides pictures and brief sketches of Captain Lampert, Lieutenants Bohn and Stuart, Sergeant Dierdorf, Eagan, Schuster, Guinn, D. O. Kinney, Quartermaster A. K. Moore, Boyle, Major Engeringer, Charlie Keiley and the mascot, Allen Dierdorf.

His Hand Badly Crushed.
Yesterday morning Johnnie Jones, a 7-year-old boy living at No. 122 Elmworth avenue, was helping a teamster employed on the Grandville avenue grade unload cedar blocks from a car to his wagon. His hand was caught between the wagon box and the car. It was badly crushed, it being necessary to take several stitches in it to hold the flesh together.

Forestry Exhibit.
The Hon. Charles W. Garfield, commissioner of the forestry exhibit at the world's fair, is in receipt of correspondence, in reply to the circular letter which was sent about two weeks ago, all containing suggestions of articles which the writers think would be of interest. A suitable depot for the reception of the samples will soon be arranged.

Miss Creveling's Vacation.
Miss Elizabeth Creveling, teacher of drawing in the public schools, will spend her summer at Salt Lake City. She will leave Tuesday. The tour is of a professional nature, as Miss Creveling will do a great deal of sketching.

The Utility Blacking Cabinet!

As will be seen from the two illustrations here presented, this cabinet fills the purposes for which it was designed, and when not in use can be closed up and stowed away in a little space. The points of advantage claimed for it are that it is ornamental, is not a dirt receiver, is strong and durable, occupies no floor space, affords ample room for the motion of the arm, holds blacking, brush and dauber in a convenient and clean place, and its arrangement permits one to shine his shoes with the least effort; it can be opened readily and with equal facility; the leg is self-adjusting; it always supports the foot rest firmly at a convenient height; the iron holder secures the blacking box, also automatically falls in position when the Cabinet is opened, and is shut in by the foot-rest when closed. The brush and dauber has each a suitable place and are within easy reach. The Cabinets are made of selected hardwood, finished in such a manner as to harmonize with the finest interior wood work. The metal is attractive in design—made from special patterns—of sufficient strength without a clumsy appearance. Each cabinet is furnished with an excellent bristle brush, a dauber and a large box of blacking, which are worth one-half the cost of the entire outfit. A bottle of ladies' shoe dressing can be kept in the Cabinet under the dauber. The Cabinet can be readily fastened to the wall or wainscoting with screws, which are furnished. In many houses the bathroom will be found a convenient place for a Cabinet. Notice it as you pass by our windows.

The closing concert of the Grand Rapids Oratorio society will be given in the Fountain Street Baptist church Friday night. The club will be assisted by the Mendelssohn quartet of Detroit. The Oratorio have been at all times progressive and tireless in the advancement of vocal music in this city and much of the interest is associated with concert programs is due to their efforts. The club owing to the season is burdened with some inconsiderable expenses which it hopes to cancel with the result of this concert. This fact should insure a large attendance. Seats are now out.
